Jewelry Store Burglarized

Daylight Yeggs Force Open Konnerth Safe
Break Through 4 Doors; Loss Heavy In Rings, Watches

Jewelry thieves brazenly forced their way through four doors at Konnerth's Jewelers at 119 S. Broadway, Sunday in broad daylight, broke open a safe and made off with several thousand dollars worth of rings, watches and other valuables.

Proprietor Edward Konnerth was making an inventory of the loss today but the exact value of the loss has not been determined. All stock taken was insured, he said.

The method of breaking open the safe bore a striking resemblance to the safe-cracking Feb. 24 at Strouss - Hirschberg's Department Store, just a few doors south of Konnerth's. Police Chief Martin Lutsch reported.

Opened With Pressure Tools
Both safes were opened with power tools by pressure applied to the upper left corner of the safe door.

Among items taken from the safe at the rear of the shop near where Konnerth repairs watches were diamond watches, diamond rings, onyx rings, birthstone rings, insurance papers and bank books. Konnerth said some of the rings were valued up to $500.

The thieves also took several dozen cheaper children's rings in containers in a drawer and $35 in change from the cash register atop the safe, but left behind a package of dimes farther back in the drawer. The thieves apparently overlooked the keys to the jeweler's display case since none of the jewelry on exhibit was disturbed.

Ignore Portable Radios
Portable radios lying directly on the display cases toward the front of the store and other valuables in plain sight were left exactly in place, Konnerth said. The thieves apparently kept well toward the rear of the store to avoid detection.

Police theorize the theft occurred sometime between 2 and 6:30 p.m. Konnerth discovered the theft at 6:30 when he went to his place of business. All was in order when he was at the store at

Whinnery Scores High In Police Test

Richard Whinnery of 135 W. 7th St. received high score in the Civil Service Commission examination for police lieutenant Sunday and was certified to the Board of Control which will make the appointment, Paul S. Fogg, Civil Service Commission chairman, reported today.

Two other policemen, Norman Flick of Georgetown Rd. and Raymond Hilbrand of 1261 E. 3rd St., also took the exam.

Whinnery, 31, joined the police department Aug. 1, 1955. A four-year veteran of the Marine Corps, he was employed in the payroll office of the Eljer Co. prior to becoming a policeman.

The Board of Control consists of Mayor Dean B. Cranmer, Safety Director Richard J. McConner and Service Director James E. Feiler.

City Council on March 8 passed an ordinance abolishing the position of captain and creating a second lieutenant in the police department. The action was taken following the resignation of Capt. Howard J. Forney who retired Feb. 16 after 20 years' service on the force.

Private Bureaucracy

Congress May Increase $50 Million-a-Year Staff

WASHINGTON (AP) —In 1914, when Carl Vinson, a 31-year-old Democrat from Georgia, came to Congress for the first time, his entire staff was made up of one secretary, paid $125 a month. The law allowed him and all other congressmen no more.

Today Vinson has four members on his staff. The average representative is allowed to hire up to nine at an over-all cost of $4,000 a month. The average senator usually hires more. And so may the congressional committees. In a rush to keep pace with the onslaught of modern pressures, Congress has created its own private bureaucracy that now numbers more than 7,000 people and costs more than $50 million a year.

There's a chance it soon will get bigger and costlier.

This week the House will debate a proposal, approved by its Administration Committee, to increase the office expenses of each congressman by $10,506 a year so he can add still another employee to his payroll.

The huge bureaucracy on Capitol Hill has provoked criticism, particularly from Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., who leads a futile fight each year to wipe out a good number of the Senate's subcommittee staffs.

"Many of these subcommittees are useless," Ellender said in an interview. "All they do is create jobs, monopolize space, and glorify senators. And like old soldiers, the subcommittees never die."

Ellender pointed out that the Senate Judiciary Committee has 14 regular staff members while its 14 subcommittees have 150 staff members.

A study defense of big congressional staffs comes from Dr. George B. Galloway, senior specialist in American government for the Library of Congress and former staff director of the Senate-House committee that conducted hearings on the reorganization of Congress in 1946.

"The increase in staff is one of the most favorable developments in Congress," Galloway said in an interview. "It is a third force that provides Congress with information and intelligence to counteract the interested opinions that come to Congress from interested parties on the one hand and from the executive department on the other."

In Galloway's view, the cause of most of the mushrooming is quite simple: The problems of Congress today are far different and far more complex than the problems of Congress when Carl Vinson was a freshman.

Vinson, dean of the House today with almost 50 years' service, recalls that "Congress didn't have the work then that it has now."

"We were concerned with just three issues: tariffs, a few agriculture bills, the prosecution of

Asks Rejection of 'Last Minute' Appointments

Battle Looms for New Governor of Minnesota

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Democrat Karl Fritjof Rolvaag is to take over today as the 31st governor of Minnesota. A somewhat bittersweet reward for persistence.

The four-year term to which he aspired in the election last Nov. 6 has shrunk to three years and nine months. Not until last Saturday did Republican Gov. Elmer L. Andersen concede defeat.

During the long weeks of a recount, Rolvaag sat in a drab basement office in the state Capitol Upstairs, the Republican-dominated Legislature enacted laws and confirmed appointments by Andersen.

Many state departments are headed by Republicans. Only two key appointments are open to Rolvaag. A few department heads have indicated a willingness to resign. Others have said they don't intend to budge.

Rolvaag has told advisers he will demand the resignations of Tax Commissioner Rolland F. Hatfield and Highway Commissioner James C. Marshall, Andersen appointees.

The Senate recently confirmed reappointment of Hatfield for a six-year term. Before his confirmation, he told a legislative committee he would not resign even if Rolvaag became governor and asked him to quit.

Marshall, a frequent target of Rolvaag criticism, is serving a four-year term that expires in April 1965. A retired Army general, Marshall has said he intends to complete his term.

Andersen has made many appointments, mostly of a minor nature — such as pharmacists and barbers named to state boards governing their professions.

Hatfield and three other major appointees have been confirmed by the Senate. They are William Joyce, liquor control commission-

8 Others Score In Tri-State Event

2 Salem Pupils Win 1st Places In Science Fair

Two Salem Junior High students won first place and eight others won high rankings in the Tri-State Science Fair which ended Saturday at Steubenville.

Science instructor Walter Newton was elated at the 34-member team's showing at the fair which featured 450 exhibits. This was Salem's second year in the competition.

Ninth grader David Navoyosky won first place and $50 for his entomological exhibit, and Charlotte Vaughan, eighth grader, won first place and $50 for her exhibit on the Millikan oil drum.

Other awards went to Jim Shasteen, 9th grade, third place, "From Pulp to Paper"; 8th graders Don Sommer, outstanding award, "Allergies"; George Zeller, "Radio Astronomy"; Tom Vacar, "The Mighty Atlas," and Kathleen Thornton, "Volcanoes," honorable mention. High placing seventh graders were Claudio Volio, second place, "The Brain"; Vernon Sprout, third place, "Progress in Power Transmission"; and Gary Baker, honorable mention, "Basic Oxygen Steel Making Progress."

Other contestants from Salem were Jay Oana, Carl Spencer, Tom Wright, Chet Burson, Karen Ackelson, Rosemary Fithian, Gene Hobbles, Ward Hilbrand, Diana Brantingham, Donna Marcantwell, Gail Brumbaugh, Gretchen Scullion, Ted Gilmer, Jim Gross, Ann Milligan, Dave Schmid, Sue Kautzmann, Vicki Galchick, Doug Hamilton, Rick Kilbreath, Cheryl Brown and Gene Tullis.

Congress Expected To Slash Foreign Aid Outlay by $1 Billion

Appropriations Bill Goes Before Legislators

Action Expected To Be Completed By End of April

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The appropriations bill starts its trip through the legislative mill this 12th week of the 105th Ohio General Assembly.

This is the measure that puts it up to lawmakers: Do we go along with the governor's budget proposals for the next two years, or don't we?

A good share of the legislature's work is done in committee, and the state spending bill gets its combing-over in the House and Senate finance committees. Sometimes it comes through virtually unscathed. Other times, like in 1961, it emerges bearing little resemblance to what went in.

The present bill, calling for general fund spending of almost $1.3 billion between July 1 of this year and June 30, 1965, was introduced last week by Rep. Ralph E. Fisher, R-Wayne, after Gov. James A. Rhodes gave his budget message to the legislature.

Fisher is chairman of the 23-member House Finance Committee. There'll be a general discussion of the bill with Rhodes' finance director, Richard L. Krabach, Tuesday at the first hearing.

Hearings are expected to continue well into April. But Fisher and House Speaker Roger Cloud think there's a chance it will be reported out of committee in time for a floor vote in the House before the end of April.

Then it goes on to the Senate Finance Committee.

Other things likely to come up this week include:

Floor votes when senators return tonight on three bills already okayed by the House. They would change the organization and financial arrangements of conservancy districts.

Votes in the house Tuesday (Several minor measures are on the agenda today) to specifically prohibit hitchhiking beside—as well as on the pavement of—highways, and to do away with the state's serve-yourself liquor stores after this year.

It is considered likely also that the 20-13 Republican majority in the Senate will move to reconsider a bill providing for trustee boards of seven members for state university branch districts. It was defeated Thursday because seven senators were absent and the necessary 17 votes for passage couldn't be mustered.

Driver Hurt As Car Strikes Tree

William R. Mathey, 35, of 840 Homewood Ave. is in fair condition at the Central Clinic Hospital after his auto jumped a curb Sunday morning at 9:15 on Jennings Ave. and struck a tree.

He suffered a fractured right arm and lacerations of the forehead and leg.

Police said Mathey may have fallen asleep when his car went out of control at 841 Jennings just north of 8th St. Mathey told police he remembered nothing after he turned the curve on Jennings.

He was cited under a city ordinance for "not driving on the right side of the highway." Two youths were involved in another traffic mishap Sunday at 12:30 p.m. at the intersection of N. Ellsworth Ave. and 4th St. Police said a car driven by Fred G. Hartman, 17, of 430 W. State St. struck the rear of a car operated by John D. Smeltzer, 19, of RD 2, Salem, as Smeltzer was making a left turn. Hartman was cited for a hearing Tuesday.

But Photoengravers Continue Strike

New York Printers OK New Contract

NEW YORK (AP) — Striking printers have ratified a new contract with New York's eight closed daily newspapers. But the last of four striking unions, the photoengravers, continued to hold out today for a better work pact, delaying an immediate resumption of publication.

As things stood today, the 108th day of the newspaper shutdown: —Photoengravers were to meet again with publishers to try to come to terms on an agreement that would remove the last stumbling block in the way of publication.

—Even if photoengraver union negotiators reached contract accord today, indications were that the eight major dailies couldn't get back on the streets until time to print Tuesday editions, or more likely Wednesday's.

—The other nine newspaper unions continued to refuse to cross the photoengravers' picket lines at four struck dailies. The other five major papers closed voluntarily when the printers began the strike against the four dailies last Dec. 8.

—Striking printers have ratified by a 779-vote majority the same settlement they rejected by 64 votes a week earlier. Their new contract gives them a $12.63 package over two years—a $6.51 increase in wages and fringe benefits the first year, and a $6.12 increase the second.

—The striking mailers union—like the printers, an affiliate of the International Typographical Union—also has ratified a new work pact with terms similar to

Crash Victim Still Critical

Probe Continues of Mishap Fatal to 2

Jerry Schaffer, 18, of Winona, driver of one of the four cars involved in the Friday night mishap on Blackburn Hill that took two lives, remains in critical condition today at Central Clinic Hospital.

The Lisbon barracks of the State Highway Patrol said this morning that Schaffer was still unconscious.

Schaffer's car struck the rear of the auto operated by Leroy Hough, 32, of Van Buren Ave., who died of injuries after the 8 p.m. wreck.

Two passengers in Schaffer's auto, William Syx, 15, of Hanoverton, and Charles Kendrick, 18, of 694 S. Union Ave. are listed in fairly good condition.

Syx suffered lacerations of the head and Kendrick lacerations of the head, two broken teeth and abrasions of both knees.

Schaffer had been undergoing medical treatment as a result of a former traffic accident at the time of the Friday crash, the patrol said.

Hough's car had pulled from a side road onto Route 62 when it was hit by Schaffer's. Schaffer's eastbound car went out of control, swerved left of center and hit an auto operated by Chris Eisinger, 62, of Kokomo, Ind. The Schaffer car continued on, striking head-on a car driven by Leon B. Knag, 38, of Seacrest Rd., Salem. Knag, a maintenance man at the Central Clinic Hospital, died instantly.

Hough was taken to the South Side Hospital in Youngstown where he died about 15 hours after the crash.

The patrol is continuing its investigation.

Will Be Main Target In Plan To Trim Budget

Group Says U. S. Trying To Do 'Too Much for Too Many'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Presented with a presidential committee recommendation to tighten up the foreign aid program, Congress appears likely to respond by pulling in the purse strings to the extent of about $1 billion.

The signs on Capitol Hill indicate the program will be the main target of efforts to trim President Kennedy's $98.8-billion budget.

Kennedy has asked for $4.9 billion in foreign aid for the year beginning July 1—$1 billion more than this year. Kennedy, however, is expected to send a message to Congress this week cutting back his aid request by $200 million or more.

But one high official remarked that the administration will be lucky to escape with a reduction of no more than $1 billion.

In a hard-hitting report, the presidential committee—made up of 10 private citizens headed by Gen. Lucius Clay—told Kennedy the program was too big—trying to do "too much for too many."

The report, made public Saturday evening, found that this year's $3.9-billion foreign aid program was overweight by half a billion dollars when weighed on the scales of the tougher new standards it was recommending.

This led to some interpretations that since the new foreign aid request is $1 billion higher than this year's program, the Clay committee was recommending it be chopped by $1.5 billion.

But William T. Dentzler, execu-

Pilot Sights Downed Plane In Canada

WATSON LAKE, Yukon Territory (AP)—A Canadian pilot has reported sighting a downed plane believed to be an aircraft missing since Feb. 4 with two Americans aboard on a flight over the Yukon.

Chuck Hamilton, piloting a B.C.-Yukon Flying Services plane, said he saw two persons, one apparently a woman, near the plane on the slope of a 4,000-foot mountain about 75 miles southeast of Watson Lake, near the British Columbia border.

The missing plane, a single-engine Howard aircraft, was carrying pilot Ralph Flores of San Bruno, Calif., and his passenger, Helen Klobean, 21, of Brooklyn, N.Y., on a 600-mile flight from Whitehorse to Fort St. John, B.C.

"All indications are that it is the Howard aircraft," said Hamilton.

"Oh, my God, I'm so happy," said Flores' wife in San Bruno. "We had the feeling all along that he would be found alive."

Flores and his wife have six children, the oldest 16-year-old twin daughters.

Hamilton said the wing of the aircraft was red and he was able to make out the number "N588," Canadian air force search officials

Committee on Foreign Aid Gave JFK Confused Report

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's 10-man committee for examining foreign aid has handed him a confused and contradictory report.

It was clear on two main points and may be helpful on a third, if only because it urged the government to get tougher.

It said foreign aid will be necessary in some form for years and that it needs cutting. The committee also suggested the government demand far more self-help from those getting the aid.

Total American foreign aid since the war is now almost $100 billion.

The report's great emphasis on economy's fresh ammunition for those in Congress, like Rep. Otto Passman, D-La., who have been chopping down foreign aid requests from presidents for years.

But the report looks badly organized and poorly thought out. In one unsentimental and selfish spot it suggests a what's-in-it-for-me American attitude in giving aid.

The report put it this way: "Whether a country ought to receive aid from the United States is a question of our enlightened self-interest."

But in other places the report says that, even if the conflict with communism were over, aid should continue because this country traditionally has been concerned with the plight of the unfortunate.

The report backed away from the basic question in urging the government to get tough on a country not doing enough to develop itself.

In such a case, if withdrawal of American aid meant a country might fall to communism, should the aid be withdrawn? It did say if Indonesia is to get help it should put "its house in order."

The report stresses the need for military help to countries closest to the Communists and explains: "Several of them are carrying defense burdens far beyond their internal economic capacity and, are providing more than two million armed men ready, for the most part, for any emergency."

"They add materially to free world strength so long as conventional military forces are required. It might be better to reduce the resources of our own defense budget rather than to discontinue the support which makes their contribution possible."

But in the next paragraph the report suggests several of these countries have forces larger than they need and urges they be cut. This whole section is a jumble.

The jumble may be due to the fact that the report never says what countries' forces need reducing. This is because right at the start the committee indicated it would not single out individual countries by name.

(The chairman, Gen. Lucius D. Clay, said he gave specific names to David Bell, director of the foreign aid program.)

Yet, as the report went on, it contradicted itself by naming some names. In complaining that most American allies were not sharing enough of the foreign aid burden, it said France was doing the best in this, and suggested Italy, Canada, the United Kingdom, Germany and even France should do more, better.

It said this country should cut down help for Spain and Portugal on whose territories the United States has bases.

It has taken this country 300 years to get as prosperous as it is under the free enterprise system. Some backward countries may feel that they can't wait that long and prefer trying democratic socialism.

The report encouraged helping countries with free enterprise and warned about aid to socialist countries, that is, those "establishing government-owned industrial and commercial enterprise."

But in almost the next breath it plugged for continuing aid to India although India is trying to come abreast of the 20th century by a system of democratic socialism.

Trio Is Charged With Using Slugs In Coin Machines

CLEVELAND (AP) — Police have arrested three men they say belonged to a ring that used slugs to obtain thousands of dollars from coin-changing machines.

Detectives said they were searching for a fourth man who took part in the phony coin-passing operation in Ohio and several other states over the past two years. Most of the passing took place in self-service laundries.

Authorities said they confiscated 8,000 bogus coins Sunday after making the arrests. They quoted the manager of a South Euclid self-service laundry as saying he found 230 slugs in a vending machine that makes change.

Charges were Harry Friedman, 48, of Cleveland Heights; Fred Robbins, 45, of Mayfield Heights, and Fred Vogel, 29, of East Cleveland.

They were accused of manufacturing coins for fraudulent use. A preliminary hearing was set for April 23. Friedman and Robbins were released in $2,000 bail each. Vogel, unable to make the same bond, was jailed.

SOUNDS LOGICAL ENOUGH
BALDWIN, Mich. (AP) — A search party of 25 volunteers and state police spent Saturday night combing the woods 10 miles south of here for Roger Robbins, 12.

Roger, son of Mrs. Ila Hiltz, returned to his home near this northwestern lower michigan community at 5 a.m. Sunday.

He explained that he had dodged the searchers for seven hours because "it was my turn to wash the dishes."

Here Are New Products Of Interest to Homeowners

What's new on the market?
THE PRODUCT — A porcelain enamel steel door and frame for use in houses and apartments. THE MANUFACTURER'S CLAIM — That porcelain enamel has been used in the building industry for years, but that this is the first time it has been used on doors. That the door is fire-resistant, corrosion-resistant and comes in many sizes, styles, colors, designs and type. That it offers unlimited flexibility in the use of hardware.

THE PRODUCT — A track-mounted, sliding steel service door for garages.

THE MANUFACTURER'S CLAIM — That the new door will not bang against your car, hit the overhead garage door's track when it is opened nor hamper passage into or out of cramped garage areas. That it will not stick or warp or require maintenance. That it has an exclusive grip-handle lock and see-through windows.

THE PRODUCT — A new type of exterior plywood designed for use where a nonskid surface is important.

THE MANUFACTURER'S CLAIM — That this plywood can be used on boat docks, boat decks, outside porches or wherever a firm footing is mandatory. That its nonskid surface has a small, waffle pattern formed into a plastic-impregnated overlay on exterior plywood or on hardboard laminated to plywood. That it can be sawed, nailed, glued, shaped or otherwise used the same as regular plywood.

THE PRODUCT — A push-pull measuring tape with a thumb lock which keeps the extended blade from creeping back into the case.

THE MANUFACTURER'S CLAIM — That this steel tape, when locked into position, facilitates the marking down of measurements and, when unlocked, retracts smoothly and automatically. That the bright yellow markings make it easier to read and that its polyester film insures durability. That it has a rugged clip on the case so that it can be clipped to a belt, pocket, work apron or clip board.

THE PRODUCT — A radiant electric heating system which uses panels of enamelled steel. THE MANUFACTURER'S CLAIM — That these thermionic panels reach peak efficiency in 72 seconds and emit infra red rays longer than those of any other system. That the unit consists of a specially developed steel alloy to which decorated, colored enamel is fused to one side and the heating element on the reverse side.

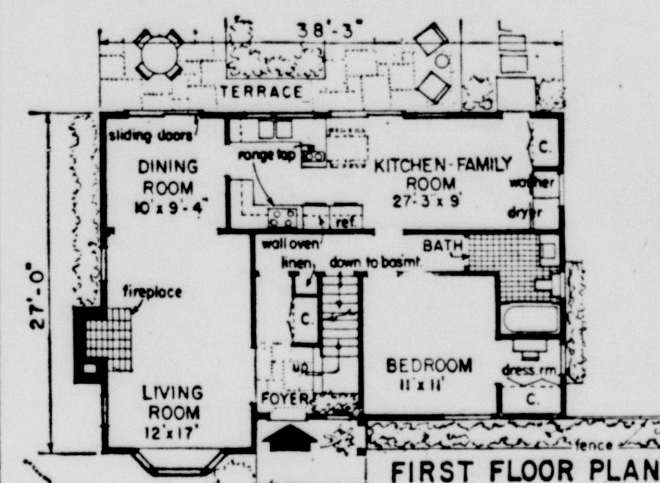

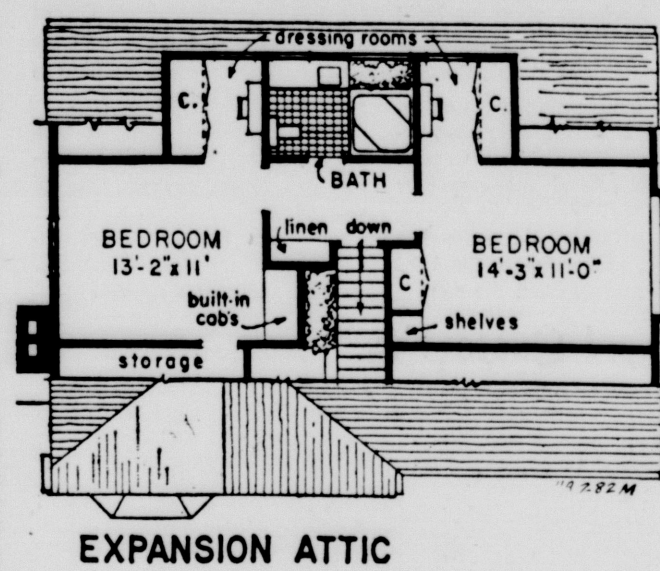

Building Permits

A building permit for a $11,000 family home to be built at 1327 Jefferson St. was recently issued to Kenneth Hoopes of Penn Ave. Don Santee is listed as general contractor for the five-room-and-bath structure.

Other permits granted in recent days by City Engineer F. S. Barckhoff's office are for:
Repairing a bathroom of a house owned by Dr. L. C. Ziegler at 811 N. Union Ave., with Sam Rea Jr. general contractor for the job costing $800;

Remodeling a bathroom at the home of Dr. R. J. McConnor of 785 Aetna St. with Ed Zilavay general contractor for the $500 job; Building a one and a half car garage for Richard Lozier Jr. at 245 W. 16th St. at a cost of $500.

PLANT TO EXPAND
MOUNT VERNON, Ohio (AP)—The Cooper-Bessemer Corp. says 200 new jobs will be created in the $2.75 million expansion it plans for its main plant here. Added payroll will amount to $1 million a year, according to President E. L. Miller.

EXPANSION ATTIC adds two bedrooms and a bath to this modest-size home. An open dining-living combination, 27 feet long, promotes spaciousness. The efficient kitchen has 15 linear feet of wall cabinets and 18 feet of base cabinets. An adjoining breakfast space is next to sliding glass doors, with view of the outdoors and good light and ventilation. The entrance is protected against weather; the entrance foyer has a slate floor. A planter at the stair landing adds width to this area. The first floor, of Plan HA282M contains 964 square feet and the second floor, 592 square feet. Rudolph A. Matern, 90-04 161st St., Jamaica 32, N.Y., is architect.

Here's the Answer

QUESTION: We bought a house six years ago for $14,000. We decided to sell it recently and went to a real estate office.

One of the men from that office came over to our house, looked it over and said he didn't think we could get more than $12,000 for it. We think it is worth $15,000. Do we have to accept his estimate?

ANSWER: Of course you don't. You can put your house up for sale at any price you choose. The facts of life, however, are that most persons put too high a selling price on their houses and usually settle for less.

It is also true that, occasionally, a home owner will sell his house for less than he could have obtained, either because he set too low a price on it originally or because the necessity of making a quick sale forced him into a bad deal.

Those in the real estate business know the market and usually do a good job of estimating how much you can get. But if you think you can get $15,000, there is nothing to prevent you from sticking to that price. You may find a buyer who feels that your house is worth it.

It has been said that no home has enough closet space. Even some homes with loads of closets seem to lack room to store everything the family accumulates.

Often it isn't lack of space, but inefficient arrangement that causes difficulties. Examine your own closets for waste space. Do you make use of doors? Is there space above a shelf for another shelf? What about the space below shirts and skirts that hang on rods?

ARE THERE ITEMS in your closets that could be stored elsewhere? Does the main closet contain both summer and winter clothes regardless of the season? Do the obvious things first. Store unseasonal items in seldom-used closets, or purchase dust-proof garment bags that can be hung in an out-of-the-way corner of the basement or attic.

Room can be made for hanging extra items by installing coat hooks on closet walls or on backs of doors.

BETWEEN THE DOOR and the clothes there's waste space, sometimes as much as six inches. Why not install shelves with raised edges so that items don't fall off? Overcoats and dresses may require the full depth of rod to floor. On the other hand, jackets and skirts may not. With all of the small items together you may find there's room below for another rod. Incidentally, a low clothes rod is ideal in a child's closet.

In youngsters' closets, use space below short items for a toy chest. Build yourself a giant roll-out toy bin—large box on casters—that fits below clothes and is flush with the front of the closet.

TORCH BLAMED IN FIRE

CLEVELAND (AP) — Firemen blamed sparks from an acetylene torch for a blaze that did an estimated $40,000 damage to a two-story commercial brick building.

The fire broke out Sunday in the rear garage of Korman Muffler, Inc., at St. Clair Avenue and East 148th Street. Several families living in apartments above the muffler shop were led to safety. No one was hurt.

There Was Something to It

President Kennedy is in a political pickle. People like him. Members of Congress

He is intelligent. He has a wide, firm gasp of public problems. He makes a good appearance, is handy with words and adds substance as well as charm to the post of chief executive.

But, politically, few Democrats and no Republicans feel they must cling to his coat tails. He is a chief executive of the United States and the head of the Democratic party without a political following.

Moreover, he works so hard at asserting his leadership that his countrymen are beginning to wonder if he really thinks through all the propositions he presents as being of the utmost urgency.

AS HE DID in his campaign for the presidency in 1960, Mr. Kennedy hammers on the theme that unless the country instructs its representatives and senators to do what he says they should do all will be lost. He has just repeated this in connection with his ideas about running up a larger deficit than ever before while cutting taxes.

Despite this glooming and dooming from the White House, the country as a whole, though unemployment is continuing to rise as industry steps up efficiency with automation, is not sharing its young President's dark mood.

It is preparing for brisk economic activity this summer. No one is talking about a boom, but neither is anyone talking about gloom, except Mr. Kennedy.

Congress is showing no signs of going along with his legislative program in any significant degree. The Democratic party is giving no indications of showing respect for his political leadership. Even Cuba is turning into a standoff.

AS SEVERAL MEMBERS of Congress have phrased it in attempts to explain President Kennedy's position; the American people are in a moderate mood and sick of hearing about new laws, yet their President is trying to stay on the good side of labor unions and militant minorities by espousing programs with no popular support.

When the votes had been counted in 1960 and the Kennedy-Johnson ticket was shown to have squeaked through with a two-tenths of one per cent margin in the vote, it was predicted far and wide that serious political complications would grow out of his failure to win a clear election.

There was something to the prediction. Mr. Kennedy is a president without political power.

He can command friendship, respect and admiration, but he cannot command votes—not even in his own political party.

The serious complications are in sight.

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall rivals the late Secretary Ickes in his zeal to impose upon the nation a federal monopoly in the production and transmission of electric power. This year he has sponsored two policies which, however, have brought strong protests from a fellow frontiersman, Joseph C. Swidler, chairman of the Federal Power Commission.

These differences do not indicate that Swidler is a dedicated friend of the privately owned power companies. But it shows that in bearing his responsibility, he is becoming more and more aware that, by monopolistic federal activities, the consuming public becomes the victim of higher costs and less efficient service.

The state government of Arizona, through its own power authority, has over a considerable period developed plans to build a dam on the Colorado River at what is known as Marble Canyon.

This would enable the state to serve its rapidly growing population with water and electric power without federal interference or participation. Through the Arizona Power Authority, the state has made an application to the FPC for a license to build the dam.

FROM THE STATEMENTS of Swidler and others it has appeared virtually certain that the application would be granted. To protect this, Senator Hayden, no doubt at the instance of Udall, introduced a bill (S.502) to forbid the FPC's granting of any license for a dam on the river from the Hoover Dam to the Glen Canyon Dam in Utah before 1969.

Clearly, this was a play to take authority from the FPC. This issue has raised a great deal of controversy in Arizona, with Gov. Fannin, Sen. Goldwater, and others favoring the state, and Udall, Hayden and others against.

Another issue, which affects practically all the western states, was raised by Udall in January. In this he was joined by his colleague, Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman. The departments headed by these secretaries have custody of substantially all federal land. These holdings comprise a major part of the area of the western third of the United States.

The orders promulgated by Udall and Freeman, which would require no legislation in Congress, would place certain conditions upon any grant of a right-of-way over federally owned land to transmission lines.

Those conditions would be these:

The United States (meaning federal power agencies) could use such privately owned transmission lines, to whatever degree there was excess capacity, to transmit its own power to its customers. The determination of what would be "excess capacity" would rest upon the arbitrary determination of the Interior and Agriculture departments.

The federal government could, at its own expense, "increase the capacity of such lines" for use in transmitting its own power.

Udall and Freeman or their successors could reject any application for such rights-of-way if they were in conflict with the "power marketing program in the United States." In fact, the only program which the "United States" has under this administration is to invade as much of the market now supplied by private companies as is possible.

IT IS EASY to see that such regulations would permit the federal government to use, build upon, and determine the usefulness and necessity of private enterprise in the power field. And this at the discretion of two politically appointed department heads.

Swidler's objections to such regulations is a reasoned statement of the responsibility of the federal government in the electric power sector of the economy. It is, he said, of paramount importance that the nation's resource be used to the full in serving the consuming public.

Such service to the public should be encouraged by the FPC through approving "voluntary interconnection and coordination of facilities."

Swidler further said that the Udall-Freeman regulations would impede the FPC in its efforts to further its policies.

He said also that such regulations would compel companies building transmission lines to make expensive detours to avoid passing over public lands and thus increase the cost of their power to the public.

In any event, Swidler concludes; such joint use of transmission lines should be a function of the FPC rather than the result of arbitrary regulations of the Interior and Agriculture departments.

It is clear that Swidler's objections in these two instances point up the fact that the development of monopolistic practices in the production and transmission of federal power is certainly not in the interest of the consuming public.

History Today

Today is Monday, March 25, the 84th day of 1963. There are 281 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this day in 1351, the famous Battle of the Thirty was fought in France. Thirty picked English champions and 30 French knights battled hand to hand with swords, daggers and axes. The French won, although all contestants were either killed or seriously wounded.

On this day: In 1776, the first Congressional Medal was awarded to Gen. George Washington for his role in the capture of Boston.

In 1825, the University of Virginia was opened.

In 1886, the first electric trolley in the United States underwent tests in Montgomery, Ala.

In 1941, Yugoslavia became a member of the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo alliance.

In 1945, the U.S. 3rd Army crossed the Main River in Germany 27 miles east of the Rhine bridgehead during World War II.

Today's birthdays: Academy Award-winning actress Simone Signoret is 42. Comedian Jerry Colonna is 60.

Thought for today: Who does not love wine, women and song remains a fool his whole life long—Johan Heinrich Voss.

From the Files

10 YEARS AGO — Ground-breaking ceremonies yesterday marked the beginning of construction of the municipal swimming pool at Centennial Park. Gail Herron president of the park commission and chairman of the Kiwanis Club swimming pool committee, turned the first spadeful of earth at the pool site.

25 YEARS AGO — Charles Sydney Freed, Salem pianist and pupil of Arthur Loesser of Cleveland, noted concert pianist, will appear in a recital Thursday in the Methodist Church auditorium. The recital, sponsored by the Salem Music Study Club, will feature two other Salem artists, Miss Kathryn Cessna, vocalist, and John L. Hundertmark, violinist.

35 YEARS AGO — Tribute was paid at a special assembly at Salem High School yesterday to the school's star pole vaulter, Lowell Allen and Keith Roessler, who brought Salem into national prominence Saturday at Evanston, Ill. Athletic Director Wilbur Springer, Mayor Phil Hiddleston, Frederic P. Mullins, Rev. Arthur M. Clarke and Supt. John S. Alan were the speakers.

So They Say

Surely, with a little good will and a little give and take, it should not be impossible to reach an early agreement on what has become a game of arithmetic.

South African Party Troubles

By STANLEY UYS

Herald Tribune News Service
CAPE TOWN — The fate of the Liberal Party in South Africa is in the balance, according to its president, Alan Paton, author of "Cry, the Beloved Country."

The small, multi-racial Liberal Party is the only legal party advocating equal political rights for the country's 16 million whites and non-whites and the abolition of all color bars.

Fears for the future are based on new government action and threats against party members. The minister of justice, John Vorster, and the two leading pro-government newspapers said recently that the Liberal Party is more dangerous than communism itself.

UNDER THE HEADING, "The Great Enemy," Die Transvaler (of which Prime Minister Dr. Hendrik Verwoerd, is chairman) has declared that the battle against liberalism overshadows all other political struggles in South Africa today.

Most liberals believe these attacks are a "softening-up" process which will lead ultimately to the banning of the party.

Last year, Patrick Duncan, a leading liberal and editor of the journal Contact, was served with a restriction order confining him to the Cape Peninsula area and prohibiting him from attending gatherings and from entering any African area or any factory. He fled and is now living in exile in nearby Basutoland, running a trading post in a remote district.

Duncan was restricted under an order of the Suppression of Communism Act — although he was an anti-Communist. The Cape vice-chairman of the Liberal Party, Joe Nkatala, an African, was similarly restricted, and he too fled to Basutoland.

After a lull, the Minister of Justice has struck again and in a manner which suggests that a pattern is developing.

IN PRETORIA, Mrs. Adelaide Hain, secretary of the Liberal Party, has been warned by a magistrate that if she does not discontinue her unnamed political activities she might be placed under house arrest.

"children" just dandy.

The woman needs professional help. She is destroying her marriage and ruining her son's life.

A family bank is a place where everyone knows and owes the banker.

Peter Hjul, chairman of the Liberal Party in the Cape Province, has been served with a restriction order. An indirect effect of the order makes it an offense for anyone to publish anything he has written or said — and Hjul is a journalist. He has been forced to resign as editor of Contact. (He succeeded Mr. Duncan).

Detectors served a similar order on Randolph Vigne, a deputy national chairman of the Liberal Party, just as Vigne was about to enter a hall to speak at a protest meeting. He is also a journalist and contributor to Contact and his livelihood is affected.

The Liberals are now experiencing what left-wing and African political organizations have undergone for the past decade. The two major African organizations, the African National Congress and the Pan-Africanist Congress, were suppressed in 1960, and last year the White Congress of Democrats was suppressed.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I married a widow with a 7-year-old son. She is a fine woman and we went together for almost two years so it's not as if we were strangers.

Our wedding was Christmas week and we went away for a 10-day honeymoon. The 7-year-old boy stayed with his grandmother. The evening we returned from our honeymoon my wife told me the boy wanted to sleep in her bed and would I mind sleeping in the guest room for a night or two—until the child became accustomed to having a stepfather. I didn't like the idea but I agreed.

I've been in the guest room ever since and am darned sick of it. I've told my wife a dozen times that my patience is wearing thin. She keeps saying the boy is sensitive and she doesn't want to disturb him emotionally. Last night she called me an "animal."

If I'm an animal please tell me. If not tell HER. Thank you.—GUEST IN MY HOME

Dear Guest: Your wife has fostered this neurotic dependency in her son because she doesn't want to be a wife. This sleeping arrangement suits both "children" just dandy.

The woman needs professional help. She is destroying her marriage and ruining her son's life.

Tarnished

Dear Ann: Our son recently graduated from school of dentistry and opened an office in the suburbs. At anticipated that things would be slow. It takes a while for a young professional man to build up a practice from scratch.

The problem is our relatives. Two of his aunts and an uncle have gone to Al for dental work.

They all said something about being willing to take a chance on a young, inexperienced dentist practice. They made it sound as if they were doing Al a favor.

He sent them all modest bills which they refused to pay. They said if they had wanted to pay they would have gone to their regular, experienced dentist.

What can he do about this? How can he prevent such occurrences in the future?—DOWN WITH RELATIVES

Dear Down With: Al should write off the bum relatives and learn from the experience.

A dental fee should be discussed with the patient (relative or not) before the work is done. This is not crass nor is it indelicate. It will prevent future misunderstandings.

Some Dish

Dear Ann: My wife started to write to you but she broke down in the middle of the letter and I am taking over.

It's about our 17-year-old boy. He's handsome, built like a million dollars and does pretty well in his studies.

He never noticed the girls until about a year ago. Then he began to get cow-eyed over a neighbor girl, 16. They went together for a few months and suddenly he lost interest in her. Wait till I tell you why.

He has gone crazy over a 31-year-old divorcee. She slings hash in a beany downtown. We didn't even know our boy went to places like that.

He thinks she's wonderful but we told him we'll take his word for it because we don't want to meet her. It's understandable that a young kid could become fasciated with a woman of the world. But why in heaven's name would a 31-year-old look twice at a high school kid. What can SHE be looking for anyway?—NO NAME, OF COURSE.

Dear No Name: Some older women are flattered by the attentions of a young boy. It makes them feel younger than Springtime. Other older women who take up with young boys are looking for a male child to mother. It's plenty sick no matter how you look at it.

Mama's Boy At 37

Dear Ann: I'm 37, single, male and in good health. My problem is a mother who will not let me be on my own.

Dad died when I was 19. Mother and I remained in the family home. Four years ago my sister was divorced and mother and I moved into her house because her children were in college. This summer her college children will be home for good.

I decided now is the time for me to get my own apartment.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems.

Matter of Fact

The earliest reference to stamp collecting was in an advertisement in the Times of London of 1841. A young lady, desirous of covering her dressing room with cancelled postage stamps, asked any good-natured person who may have these (otherwise useless) little articles at their disposal to assist her in her whimsical project.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT
Use Right Discipline For Child

Discipline is not to be confused with punishment. Punishment becomes necessary only on those occasions (rare, I hope) when discipline breaks down.

Dr. Brandstadt

Discipline is really training your child to know what is expected of him, and to respect the rights and property of others. When properly administered, far from building up a feeling of frustration or resentment in your child, discipline increases his sense of security.

The limits you set on your child's behavior are partly to protect him from personal injury and partly to prevent him from becoming a social outcast. As he grows older the limitations set on his behavior must be broadened to give him a greater sense of responsibility.

IN SHORT, HE MUST be taught to respect authority exercised firmly and lovingly. Without such authority your child will feel lost, unsure of himself, and unable to cope with situations that should be within his limited ability.

When it becomes necessary to punish an infant, punishment should be prompt so that your child will unmistakably associate the punishment with the misdeed.

It should never be administered with a show of anger. You are punishing the misconduct, not the child, and he must be made to realize that your love for him is in no way diminished.

Once the punishment is given, the incident should be considered closed. For the toddler of 2 or 3, a sharp but firm "No" and an unmistakably disapproving look should take care of most minor infractions.

WHEN YOUR CHILD is 4 or 5, you can begin to explain the reasons behind your disciplinary rules. But you should avoid dragging this out into a prolonged discussion, because your child may use this as a means of demanding more than his fair share of your attention, or of diverting the discussion away from the essential point.

As soon as he can understand what is being done and why, withholding privileges, scolding, or sending him to his room should replace all forms of corporal punishment. Some parents are afraid to impose disciplinary measures for fear of harming the emotional development of a child.

THIS IDEA has done a great deal of harm. There is nothing more frustrating to a child or more damaging to his emotional growth than for him to be completely undisciplined. It is just as erroneous for a parent to be afraid that discipline will cause a breach in his close relationship with her child. If there is genuine mutual love, discipline administered fairly and firmly can only strengthen it.

Good discipline cannot be achieved by one parent alone. Any differences in attitude toward discipline must be resolved by the father and mother well out of earshot of the children, so that they may present a united front.

Furthermore, there should be no passing the buck from one parent to the other. Sarcasm and ridicule are not proper means of discipline.

Your child will immediately recognize in such methods that you are taking an unfair advantage of him.

Amvets Auxiliary Head Back Home

Mrs. Oana Find Southern Hospitality Is Enjoyable

Mrs. Mike Oana of Salem, president of the National AMVETS Auxiliary, has returned from a trip in the South.

On March 8 she was made an honorary citizen of the city of New Orleans and was presented a key to the city by Mayor H. Schiro. While in New Orleans, Mrs. Oana toured the Veterans Administration Hospital and the Chinchuba Institute for the Deaf.

Both places are part of the Louisiana AMVETS Auxiliary projects. Mrs. Oana was honored with a dinner by the District 1 AMVETS Auxiliary in New Orleans March 9. She went to Baton Rouge and was a guest of Louisiana AMVETS Auxiliary president, Mrs. Victor Townsley. A reception was held in her honor at the old Capital Building in Baton Rouge for the AMVET and Auxiliary members. Mrs. Oana was also made an honorary citizen of Louisiana.

On March 10 Mrs. Oana arrived in Florida. A luncheon was held in her honor on the 11th by the Florida AMVETS Auxiliary. At this affair, St. Petersburg Mayor Herman W. Goldner presented Mrs. Oana with a key to the city. Mrs. Oana visited the Veterans Administration Regional office in

Hints From Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

DEAR HELOISE: I thought I should pass this information along. Coffee is packed at sea level and when the jar is opened at a higher altitude where air pressure is lower, there are times when the greater air pressure within the jar is released all at once spraying the coffee out of the jar. Here are a few tips to help prevent this:

Place the unopened jar in the freezing compartment of your refrigerator for several hours or overnight. The low temperature causes a decrease in pressure within the jar. Open the jar as soon as you take it out of the refrigerator—this way:

Turn the jar top away from the face and unscrew the cap carefully. There may be a hissing sound, and with a pin make several holes around the rim of the paper seal—with the jar still turned away from the face. No more troubles.

ANASTASIA RIES

DEAR HELOISE: I had a glass cut to fit the top of my dining room table. Under this glass I put my lacy doilies. It looks pretty and saves both the table and my doilies. With a flick of my sponge I can keep the glass clean. The same would apply to plastic, I suppose, if anybody wanted to have a plastic top made.

Rebekah Lodge's Installation Held

Mrs. Helen Meier was elected and installed as vice grand, replacing Mrs. Vera Drotleff, who resigned, and Mrs. John Wilms installed as outside guardian when members of Home Rebekah Lodge met Tuesday evening in Odd Fellows Hall.

Mrs. Esther Biery of Alliance, district deputy president, assisted by Mrs. Bertha Smith, also of Alliance, and Mrs. Surgie Brunt of Sebring, were installation officers. Mrs. John Nestor presided and welcomed representatives from chapters from Leetonia, Columbiana, Lisbon, Sebring and Alliance.

A tribute to Schuyler Colfax, founder of the organization, was read by Mrs. John McCormick.

Mrs. Evas Lipp, Mrs. Joseph Stanyard and Mrs. Meier were in charge of refreshments which were served at a table decorated in traditional St. Patrick's Day appointments.

An April Fool's party will be the feature of the next meeting at 7:30 p.m. April 2. Mrs. John Schuster, Mrs. Emmor Greene and Mrs. Nelson Baunach will be in charge of the program and refreshments.

By ETIA MAE ALEXANDER
Rev. James W. Carthy Jr. used as his sermon subject "Loneliness" for the Sunday morning worship service of the First Christian Church.

A minister, teacher, author and journalist, Rev. Carthy is professor of journalism and public relations and publications of Bethany College. He is a graduate of Culver-Stout College, the University of Chicago and Northwestern University.

The Cardettes were entertained Friday evening by Mrs. Cecil McCowin of Rogers.

Prizes for 500 went to Mrs. Robert Mix, Mrs. Everett Biggins and Mrs. Daniel Vargo.

Mrs. Bernard Sweeney of E. Chestnut St. will receive the club April 5.

THE SUNSHINE CLUB met with Mrs. John Grubbs of Salem Road Thursday, with Mrs. Laula Grubbs, her mother-in-law, as co-hostess.

The business meeting was in charge of Mrs. Clyde Hadley. "Understanding the Teen-Ager" was the program topic given by Mrs. Garnett Campbell, and a clipping of "something good a teen-ager had done" was the roll call response.

Mrs. Joe Smith of Teagarden Road will entertain the club April 18.

Club associates met Thursday evening with Mrs. Twing Hiscox of Salem.

Secret pals remembered the birthdays of Mrs. Jacob Lindsmith and Mrs. William Houlette. Prizes for 500 were awarded to Mrs. Don Ward and Miss Barbara Wetzel.

Mrs. Lindsmith will be the hostess for the next club meeting, April 18.

THE SILVER CIRCLE of the First Christian Church will meet Tuesday evening at 8 at the Morgan House.

Hostesses will be Mrs. Charles Y. Carlisle, Mrs. Lawrence Snow and Mrs. Cecil Bernard. All women of the church are invited.

William Hale, scout master, and 12 boy scouts of Troop 92 of the Methodist Church spent Saturday night at Camp McKinley, scout reservation on Logtown Road.

Guests of Mrs. Robert Huston of E. High St. over the weekend were her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Huston of Stow.

From the Mailbag

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Although it also results in new jobs, automation is now displacing jobs. It is estimated the U.S. work force will increase from 74 million in 1960 to 87 million in 1970.

Those now having the hardest time finding jobs are boys under 20 who didn't finish high school, and those over 45 who haven't kept pace with new skills.

Easter customs spring from many sources. The ancient Persians believed the world was hatched from an egg on the first day of spring and at that time each year exchanged colored eggs for good luck.

Each night about one out of 10 Americans takes a sleeping pill. Walking pigeon-toed will help prevent slipping on ice.

Did you ever see a pigeon slip and fall down?

Edward Bellamy, 19th century author of "Looking Backward," predicted that in a hundred years or so people would no longer use cash at all. Every year he seems closer to the truth.

Our quotable notables: "There is a point, of course, where a man must take the isolated peak and break with all his associates for clear principle; but until that time comes he must work, if he would be of use, with men as they are. As long as the good in them overbalances the evil, let him work with them for the best that can be obtained"—Theodore Roosevelt.

In New Mexico you can shoot a deer if you have a license. But if you rope one, it will cost you $35 and court costs.

Do you feel now and then that your wife is finicky? Well, science is on your side. Studies at Cincinnati and Wayne universities found that women are harder to please than men and "more easily annoyed by trifles."

Farmers in Latvia once thought planting a pig's tail in a field guaranteed a better stand of barley. In parts of Germany, planting a pig's ribs was supposed to help the flax harvest.

Science Shrinks Piles

New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dynex)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation 59. At all drug counters.

Deaths and Funerals

Mrs. John Helmick

Mrs. Leona Helmick, 84, of 434 W. 6th St., died of complications at 12:30 a.m. Sunday at the Hutton Nursing Home following an illness of 10 years.

Born in Fayette County, Pa., March 30, 1878, she was a daughter of William and Lydia Hewitt Helmick. She was a member of the Presbyterian Church of Masontown, Pa., and had lived in Salem since 1921.

Her husband, John, preceded her in death in 1951.

Surviving are three sons, Coy of Canfield and Allen and Raymond of Salem; two daughters, Mrs. Robert McCauley of Youngstown and Miss Mabel Helmick of Phoenix, Ariz.; one brother, Larry Campbell of Smithfield, Pa.; 12 grandchildren; and 22 great-grandchildren. One daughter, Mrs. Cecil Snyder, preceded her in death.

Funeral services will be at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Stark Memorial, with Rev. Harold Deitch officiating. Burial will be in Grandview Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Memorial Tuesday evening.

Vollmer Funeral

Funeral service will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the Bieber Memorial Funeral Home for George R. Vollmer, 57, of 395 W. State St., who died in Salem City Hospital Friday.

Friends may call at the funeral home from 7 to 9 tonight.

Rev. Harold Winn, pastor of the First Friends Church, will officiate. Burial will be in Hope Cemetery.

Two Residents Of County Home Succumb Sunday

Double funeral services will be held at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday at the Columbiana County Home for George A. Browning, 82, and Joseph Mosier, 90, infirm residents, who died Sunday.

Mr. Browning, formerly of East Liverpool, died at 10 a.m. at the infirmary where he had resided since Feb. 14, 1962.

Mr. Mosier, who was admitted to the infirmary from Center Township Oct. 31, 1951, succumbed at 11:05 a.m. at Salem City Hospital.

Born Sept. 24, 1880 in England, Mr. Browning was a son of James and Ann Browning. Survivors include two brothers, Thomas of Beloit and Arthur of Columbus.

Mr. Mosier was born May 10, 1872 in Transylvania. There are no known survivors.

Rev. Paul T. Gerrard, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Lisbon, will officiate at the services. Friends may call at the infirmary chapel Tuesday evening.

Burial will be in the County Home Cemetery.

Barn Near Salem Destroyed by Fire

A barn on the property owned by A. N. Norkus of RD 3, Salem, was razed by a fire of undetermined origin Saturday afternoon.

Salem firemen, called to the scene at 1:30, were unable to stop the blaze, which was out of control when they arrived. A shed and several other nearby structures were not damaged.

Leetonia Volunteer Fire Department answered a second call shortly after the Salem department arrived.

No estimate of damage has been made. Norkus had insurance coverage on the barn and its contents, a tractor-drawn mowing machine, a rotary mower and some corn.

Salem firemen also answered a call Sunday morning at 2:24 at the home of Howard Paulin, 1239 E. 11th St., where a motor on a furnace was smoking.

those accepted by printers. The mailers thus ended the strike which they began Jan. 9.

The stereotypers union, which joined the strike March 5, came to terms earlier and ratified a new contract March 17.

All but two of the six non-striking newspaper unions have reached firm or tentative settlements. The machinists and electricians unions have announced willingness to return to work while their peace talks continue.

Publishers estimate the total loss to the economy as a result of the newspaper blackout at more than $200 million.

In Cleveland, Ohio, where the two daily newspapers have been blacked out for 116 days, a quick end to strikes against the Plain Dealer and the Press & News was not in sight. Striking printers appeared to present one of the last big blocks to settlement.

Howard W. Keck

WARREN — Howard W. Keck, 54, of Warren, died of complications at 10:45 a.m. Friday at Broward General Hospital, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where he had been on vacation. He had been in ill health five months.

Born near North Jackson Feb. 19, 1909, the son of Nelson and Minnie Keck, he was owner of the Elm Road Hardware Company and a member of the Howland Community Church of Warren.

Mr. Keck is survived by his wife, Clara Weigand Keck; his parents; four brothers, Lee, Ted, and Noble Keck of North Jackson and William Keck of Canfield; three sisters, Mrs. Betty Metzler of North Jackson, Mrs. Edna Campbell of Warren and Mrs. Ruth Rhodes of Akron.

Services will be at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Roberts Funeral Home, where friends may call Tuesday evening from 7 to 9. Burial will be in Hope Cemetery in Salem.

Mrs. Luedith Smith

EAST PALESTINE — Mrs. Luedith Smith, 64, formerly of 129 S. Walnut St., died of a heart attack at 6:10 p.m. Saturday in the Massillon State Hospital.

Born in East Palestine May 30, 1898, she was the daughter of Eli and Marie McMillen Klupper. A member of the First Church of Christ, she was formerly employed by the W. S. George Pottery Company and the M and W Manufacturing Company.

Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. James Grappo of East Palestine; two sons, James of New Castle, Pa., and Alvin of Portland, Ore.; one sister, Mrs. John E. Blott of Leavittsburg; and eight grandchildren.

Funeral services will be at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Van Dyke Funeral Home conducted by Dan Davis, minister of the First Church of Christ. Burial will be in Glenview Cemetery.

Calling hours at the funeral home will be from 7 to 9 tonight.

Mrs. Jennie Craig

LISBON — Mrs. Jennie Craig, 75, died at 4 a.m. today at the Columbiana County Home where she had resided for 22 years.

Born in Clarksburg, W. Va., in 1887, she was admitted to the infirmary June 19, 1940 from East Liverpool.

Funeral arrangements in charge of the Eells-Leggett Funeral Home are incomplete.

Mark Arnold

LISBON — Graveside services were held at 1:30 p.m. today at Lisbon Cemetery for Mark Aaron Arnold, 29 days old, of 835 N. Market St., who died at the Youngstown South Side Hospital Saturday at 1 a.m. after being in poor health since birth.

Born Feb. 24, in Salem City Hospital, he was a son of Mark A. and Janice Apple Arnold.

Survivors include his parents; maternal grandparents, Mrs. Clinton Apple and Frank Toot; and paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Arnold, all of Lisbon; great-grandparents, Mrs. Myrtle Toot of Lisbon; Mrs. A. D. Arnold of Cleveland and Mrs. D. J. Grissinger of Salem.

Rev. Paul T. Gerrard, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Lisbon, was in charge of the services.

Alliance Woman, 74, Is Victim of Fire

ALLIANCE, Ohio (AP) — The body of 74-year-old Bessie Burden was found lying face down in her yard today after a grass fire flared up outside her home.

A neighbor, Dorothy Solomon, 18, found the elderly woman with a broom in her hand. The scene was two miles north of Alliance off Ohio 225.

THE VIKING TYPE — Leslie Parrish will spend six months in Yugoslavia, where she'll co-star with Richard Widmark in filming of "The Long Ships," a Viking tale.

Aid

tive director of the Clay committee, said Sunday night this was not so.

The committee, he said, was speaking of only this year's program, ending June 30, and not next year's. Also, he said, the report listed several new projects which it thought should be added.

The committee did not propose any immediate specific cuts. It urged, though, graduated future reductions, tightening of assistance criteria and reassessment of administration procedures and personnel.

These steps, it contended, were necessary to strengthen the program which the committee felt was essential to security of the United States and the non-Communist world.

The only committee member no dissent was AFL-CIO President George Meany. He said aid funds should be substantially increased. He complained the report might be disastrously used by critics of foreign aid.

Without reference to proposed reductions, Kennedy said in a statement that the report was very heartening because of the committee's "expression of support for properly administered mutual defense and development programs."

Yeggs

10:30 a.m., the owner said.

The burglars were not deterred by the necessity to pass through four doors to gain entrance. Glass was broken in an outside door leading to the alley and the thieves climbed through, passed through the hallway and broke open a metal door and screen door before entering a fourth door leading to the rear of the shop. The lock was broken on the heavy metal door and the bolt pried open on the screen door.

Police report the thieves used a small bar or long screwdriver to tear the slide bolt off the door and force the lock. The moulding around the screen door was also broken.

The store also was looted of merchandise in 1958 when someone broke the front display window after the place was remodelled.

With The Patients

James Thompson, 41, of RD 1, Beloit, who burned both hands and arms while working at the Royal China Company at Sebring, was treated and released at 9 a.m. Saturday at the Alliance City Hospital.

Two County Women Hurt In Mishap

Two Columbiana County women were slightly injured Saturday morning at 10 in a three-car accident on County Road 411, one-half mile southwest of Route 45.

Rhonda S. Farmer, 18, of RD 4, Lisbon, received contusions of the forehead and knee, and Alice Mae Reeder, 36, of RD 1, Hanoverton, suffered a bruised left hip. Both were treated and released.

The Lisbon post of the State Highway Patrol said Mrs. Reeder and Dwayne M. Votaw opposite-bound in their cars, were parked on the highway, when Miss Farmer's car came over the crest of a hill and struck the Reeder car in the front. Miss Farmer's car swung around and the rear of her car hit the rear of Votaw's.

Votaw and Mrs. Reeder were cited for parking on the roadway. In other weekend mishaps Billy T. Wise of Akron was taken to East Liverpool City Hospital with concussion and lacerations of the nose when his car plunged into a deep ravine Sunday night at 8:40 on Route 7, about three miles south of Rogers. The patrol said Wise was traveling too fast, lost control on a curve, damaged 25 feet of guard rail, then went across the road and plowed into the ravine.

Saturday night at 10:45 C. Fred Emelo, 25, of Tower Rd., Salem, lost control of his car on a curve, went into a ditch and jumped a culvert on Egypt Rd., about one mile north of Alternate Route 14. Emelo was unhurt but was cited for speed excessive for conditions.

Bureaucracy

World War I," he told a newsman.

"Since then—" Vinson stopped, smiled, and with a swift rotation of his hand, acted out the acceleration of federal government brought on by the great depression, World War II, the cold war and near $100-billion budgets.

The first Congress, which met from 1789 to 1791, introduced 268 bills, enacted 108 public laws, and had 155 committee reports. The 87th Congress, which met in 1961 and 1962, introduced 17,220 bills, enacted 833 public laws, and had 4,852 committee reports.

The first Congress had only two committees. In contrast, the Senate Committee on Government Operations reported that in 1955 and 1956 the Senate alone had 17 committees and 129 subcommittees, which, with 13 joint Senate-House committees, met a total of 3,951 times for a total of 11,677 hours.

Lake Park Manager's Office Broken Into

Walter Burbick, Guilford Lake park manager, reported to the sheriff's office this morning that his park building at the lake was entered sometime last evening or early this morning.

Deputy Howard Gray is investigating.

BEAVER BOARD TO MEET

The Beaver Local Board of Education will meet tonight at 8 at Beaver Local Public School. Main item on the agenda will be consideration of the 1963 - 64 appropriation measure.

SPARE TIRE STOLEN

Cecil Chamberlain of Georgetown Rd. reported to police Sunday that a spare tire was stolen from his car last Thursday while the car was parked in the Timberlanes lot at 544 E. Pershing.

LOOK-ALIKES—Which brother is the senator? That's the question bugging observers on Capitol Hill. In case you, too, are confused, Sen. Thurston B. Morton (R-Ky.), is at left. At right, Rep. Rogers C. B. Morton (R-Md.), the younger of the brothers. Morton (the senator) stands almost 6 feet 6. Morton, the freshman congressman, is almost 6 feet 8.

Plane

said the missing plane bore the insignia "N58856."

Hamilton said the remainder of the plane was obscured and despite a number of low passes he could not make out further details. He said a campfire was burning near the aircraft. There was a person nearby.

"I felt that it was a woman," he said. "At first I thought it might be an Indian squaw. It was hard to tell."

The pilot said he spotted a man about four miles from the crash scene.

Hamilton said he landed at Aircraft Lake, about six miles from the scene. He met two trappers there and they left for the crash scene.

The pilot described the terrain as rough and "very bad for walking." He said the land is mountainous, with many knolls and gullies.

"There's a lot of ice and snow. And some open water in the creeks. It's pretty treacherous," Hamilton said.

Mrs. Flores said her husband went to the Yukon in October 1960 to work as a mechanic for a contractor on the Delwile, the U.S.-Canadian radar warning net. He had completed his contract and was flying home when his plane disappeared, she said.

Alliance Family Overcome by Fumes

ALLIANCE, Ohio (AP) — A mother and her five children were overcome by carbon monoxide fumes early today, but the father was able to call police, who rescued the family.

Mrs. Robert Hardet, 39, said she awoke with a headache, aroused her husband and then passed out. Hardet woke each of his children—ranging in age from four to 15—who also passed out one by one. Hardet then telephoned the police, who took the family to City Hospital, where they were treated and released.

Selection of contestants for the bee is based on two pupils for each sixth grade in the elementary schools, Junior High Principal Wayne Grinnen explained.

Reilly School will have four pupils entered, McKinley four, Fourth Street, six, and Prospect and Buckeye, two each. These 18 will join 20 students from the Junior High, 10 seventh graders and 10 eighth graders, a ratio of one for each home room.

Meanwhile, other schools throughout the county are selecting their entrants for the county spellingdown at Lisbon April 22, an event to be held that evening in the Lisbon High School gymnasium. Rev. William Brown, pastor of the Lisbon Methodist Church, will be the pronouncer for that contest.

The county rural schools' top spellers will vie in an elimination contest April 3 at Franklin Local School, and champions from the parochial schools in the county will compete April 6 at St. Aloysius School in East Liverpool to pick their two entrants for the county bee.

Leetonia and Columbiana schools already have chosen their contestants for the county event. Lisbon will hold its contest April 5, East Liverpool city schools April 1 and Wellsville April 8.

The winner in the Canton finals May 3 advances to the National Spelling Bee in Washington, D.C., June 10-15.

Fat Woman Fast In Hotel, Loses 12 Pounds In 7 Days

By MARY FERGUSON
LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Seven days have gone by — 168 hours without food—and I'm feeling like a rose blooming on a dew vine.

Sounds kind of corny, I know—but it's true. I've lost 12 pounds and I am down to 232.

I'm 3 3/4 inches smaller around the hips, 2 smaller around the waist and 4 smaller around the bust.

It's hard to guess just yet how much I'll lose between now and next Sunday, when my self-imposed fast is over. My doctor says I will average about two pounds a day, but I'm hoping for more. I promised myself and my husband that I would fast for two weeks, locked up here in my hotel room, but everything is going so well I think I'll keep it up even after I go home.

What I really want to do is get down to 128 pounds, which would be just right for my 5-foot-2 height.

My husband calls me at least twice every day, and when I told him my new measurements—55 1/2 hips, 44 waist, and 49 bust—he said: "Honey, that's wonderful. Keep it up. I know you can, and I love you."

He's a wonderful man. Slender, not like me, and with white hair at 45 he's very distinguished-looking. I started this fast because I wanted a new dress for Easter. I want to be down to at least a size 20 1/2. That way I can find something with a little color in it, not those drab blacks that you get in size 24 1/2.

I know I'll get a new dress now—my husband Arthur has already promised it to me.

The doctor told me the first 48 hours would be the hardest, that after that my stomach would shrink and there wouldn't be any hunger pangs.

I've found, however, that it is rough for the first 72 hours.

All I have had is coffee, tea and bouillon. I have coffee at 8 a.m. with no cream or sugar, just a little saccharine. Then iced tea at noon and coffee again at 4 p.m. The closest thing to food I have is bouillon, at 7 p.m.

My worst time of all came with the bouillon, last Tuesday night. The waiter who brought up my tray made a mistake—there was a big plate of crackers on it. "That's not my tray," I told him. "Get it out of here. Get it out of here."

Somehow, I guess it was association. I had a craving for cheese to go with the crackers I didn't have. I had visions of all kinds of cheeses, American and Swiss, in great big chunks.

On Wednesday I awoke and felt terribly depressed.

For about an hour I felt I couldn't go on any longer. It was the worst feeling I've had since I came here. But I immediately prayed to St. Jude — the patron saint of those who try the impossible—and I said my Rosary. After that I began to feel a little better.

Later in the morning the hunger came back. For a minute I felt like I was leaving this world completely, but I got up and chewed a stick of gum and felt better immediately.

I guess I've crammed my system with so much sweet stuff for years and years now that when it's not getting anything sweet it balks a little bit. I guess the little sugar I chewed out of the gum came to its rescue.

Since then I have found that eating really isn't so terribly necessary. It's really a very bad habit we acquire to compensate for our feelings of inadequacy.

I feel calmer now than I have for months. Fasting seems to bring a wonderful tranquility. I honestly believe I'm having such an easy time of it because God is with me.

Some of the nicest people have written me—more than 100 letters. I'm going to answer every one of them, too.

Urbana, Springfield Local Given Nod To Win Titles

Columbus East Battles Tech
Urbana Takes On Marion Harding

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—There are no standout favorites for Ohio's high school basketball championships in the weekend's title tourney...

Urbana hoisted its prestige by routing Clayton Northmont, Middletown and Dayton Chaminade—all unbeaten and rated eighth, first and third respectively in the final Associated Press poll—in battling its way out of the rugged Southwestern District where 20 of the previous 40 crowns have gone.

Knocked Off 3 Powers
The Hillclimbers halted Northmont 72-61, Middletown 63-61 and Chaminade 57-33 in consecutive tilts. The wear-and-tear of the three triumphs was so tough on Coach Roger Brauer that he was the only one of the eight mentors unable to attend Sunday's tournament briefing here.

Springfield Local's backers point to the fact the team has lost only to Poland and Youngstown Mooney, both Class AA clubs, in the opening games of the season, and to Bessemer, Pa., another big school, a little later. A half-dozen Double-A quintets fell before Coach Leigh Klingensmith's stalwarts.

Urbana goes against Marion Harding in Friday's semifinal, and the latter is coached by canny Dan Baker who led Northwestern to the 1958 Class A crown. In the other tilt in Class AA, second-ranked and unbeaten Cleveland East Tech bangs into fourth-rated and once-beaten Columbus East.

Trip Is 7th for Scarabs
East Tech is making its seventh appearance in the big show, won the title in 1958 and 1959 and lost the championship game in both 1960 and 1962. Columbus East, making its sixth bid, grabbed the crown in 1951 and lost the 1924 finals to Dayton Stivers.

Urbana and Marion Harding have been in the classic once each. The Hillclimbers ousted East Tech 61-60 in the 1961 semifinals and then lost the title game to Portsmouth 50-44. Marion Harding lost a quarterfinal game in 1924 to Marietta 17-13.

None of the Class A quintets has ever made the big show. One oddity in Class A is that York Township of Sandusky County and Dresden got in with identical 24-2 won-lost records and each scored 1,604 points.

Dresden plays Jackson Center (23-3) in Friday's semifinal, while York Township tangles with Springfield Local.

Tigers Show Best Offense
Springfield local, with a 71.5 scoring average, leads the Class A teams, and York Township has the best defensive record with 46.2. Columbus East tops the Class AA scorers with a 66.5 average, and Urbana's 41.9 defensive mark is the leader.

FRACTURED INTERVIEW

Springfield Local Trims Adena 71-68, To Earn Columbus Trip

Springfield Local has captured the Class A Regional cage laurels and earned itself a shot at the state title at Columbus this week. A 10-point spurt in an overtime period action gave the Tigers a 74-68 decision over Adena at Canton Field House Saturday. Coach Leigh Klingensmith's Mahoning County aggregation (21-3) will take on Dresden (24-2) at Ohio State University's St. John Arena Friday at 3:15 p.m. York Township (24-2) battles Jackson Center (23-3) at 1:30 p.m. The two winners advance to Saturday's finals at 2 p.m.

EIGHT FOULS in the final three minutes, plus a bucket gave the Tigers their margin over Adena Saturday. Ron Sonecdecker was the big gun for the winners as he canned four straight fouls to give Springfield Local a 70-65 bulge with 37 seconds left. The Tigers had watched a 14-point lead in the third period diminish and even fell behind 60 - 54

Blanks Mets In 6-Inning Stint

Williams Sharp As Yankees Win

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
If the 1962 New York Yankees had a fault, a weakness, it was lack of pitching depth. It wasn't enough to keep them from winning the World Series, but that was the flaw the experts pointed out. So the Yanks went out and got themselves a pitcher. So the rest of the American League, as usual, had better look a little bit out. Stan Williams, a hulking right-hander counted on by the Yanks to become their fourth regular starting pitcher, turned in one of the better jobs of the spring exhibition season Sunday, allowing only a single hit and but three base-runners in a six-inning pitch chore. Young Jim Bouton finished up the last three innings at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., preserving the one-hitter and helping the Yankees to a 3-0 victory over their cross-town National League rivals, the Mets. Podres Goes 9 Innings The Los Angeles Dodgers also got a solid pitching job out of Johnny Podres. The 30-year-old lefty became the first Dodger to go nine innings in a six-hit, 6-1 triumph over Baltimore at Miami. Podres struck out nine and walked three. In other games, Milwaukee whipped St. Louis 8-4 at St. Petersburg, Bernie Allen's single drove in the winning run in Minnesota's 4-3 12-inning victory over

Table with 2 columns: Team, Score. Rows include Philadelphia at Orlando, Kansas City edged Washington 6-5 at Bradenton, the Chicago White Sox edged Detroit 6-5 in 10 innings at Sarasota, Pittsburgh blasted Cincinnati 11-3 at Tampa, Cleveland beat Boston 7-4 at Scottsdale, Ariz., the Los Angeles Angels came from behind and beat Houston 6-5 at Las Vegas and San Francisco whipped the Chicago Cubs 11-6 at Phoenix. Posted 11-12 Mark Last Year Williams, 6-foot-4 and 230 pounds, came to the Yanks from the Dodgers in exchange for first baseman Bill Skowron. The 26-year-old hurler had a 14-12 record with Los Angeles last season and is expected to join Whitey Ford, Ralph Terry and Bill Stafford as the Yankees big four.

Ramblers Capture Championship 60-58

NCAA Tournament Jinx Halts Cincy's Drive As Loyola Wins In Overtime

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOUISVILLE (AP)—Memo to the nation's college basketball coaches: If you want to win the national collegiate championship, take two preliminary steps: 1. Play well but not quite well enough to earn the No. 1 rating. 2. Coach well but not quite impressively enough to be named Coach of the Year. That's what George Ireland and the Loyola of Chicago Ramblers did. Loyola's heart-thumping 60-58 overtime victory over two-year champion Cincinnati Saturday night extended the failure of the nation's top-ranking teams to six straight years. Not since unbeaten North Carolina survived a triple overtime battle with second-ranked Kansas in the classic finals of 1957 has the No. 1 ranked team wound up with the championship. Bearcats Were Top Choice Now third-ranked Loyola has the crown in a season when Cincinnati was the overwhelming choice from start to finish. If that doesn't indicate enough of a jinx, then figure this. In both 1961 and 1962, Ohio State's Fred Taylor had already made his thank-you speech as Coach of the Year when Cincinnati and Ed Jucker knocked him away from the championship. This time, the voters took the hint. Jucker is the Coach of the Year and Ireland of Loyola is the champ.

Former Boxing Champ Had Shown Improvement

Moore Succumbs From Injuries Received In Last Week's Bout

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Davey Moore, a colorful ring champion for nearly four years, died today of injuries received in the fight last Thursday that cost him his world featherweight title. Moore lapsed into a coma shortly after his bout with Sugar Ramos and never regained consciousness. Moore's wife, Geraldine, 26, had maintained a bedside vigil in the hospital much of the time. She had become exhausted and was resting in a nearby room when death came at 2:20 a.m. A hospital bulletin said only doctors and nurses were present when the fighter succumbed to brain damage. Ironically, Moore, 29, gave up his title—and his life—in the city of his greatest triumph. It was here that he won the featherweight crown from Hogan (Kid) Bassey of Nigeria in 1959. Ramos, the new champion, sobbed in an apologetic meeting with Mrs. Moore Sunday. The Cuban-born boxer, a Mexico City resident, told Mrs. Moore how sorry he was and said that he was "praying every night" for the recovery of his opponent in the tragic bout. Mrs. Moore expressed confidence that her husband would be all right. A late evening bulletin from the doctors seemed to give her added reason for hope. Moore's pulse, temperature and blood pressure all had shown improvement. But the fighter's condition worsened during the night. The first bulletin of the morning said Moore's pulse was irregular and described his general condition as deteriorating. Sunday, Pope John XXIII called the sport of boxing barbaric and "contrary to natural principles." At Lenten services in Ostia, Italy, the pontiff declared: "Christ engaged in neither boxing nor politics."

Suddenly his head dropped and he was in a coma from which he was never to recover. Moore was knocked down for the first time in the fight about halfway through the 10th round. He got up and took most of the mandatory 8-count on his feet, but

Tebbetts Plans To Start Three Rookies In Opening Day Lineup

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—The way Cleveland Manager Birdie Tebbetts sees things now, three rookies will be in the Indians' lineup opening day April 9 and two of his five regular starting pitchers will be first-year men.

Tebbetts made these disclosures as he reviewed spring training to date and projected his thinking toward the forthcoming season. He previously had said rookie Tony Martinez will be his regular shortstop. Now he brackets Vic Davalillo and Max Alvis with the talented Cuban.

"This is the first time I've said Davalillo had the centerfield job," said Tebbetts. "I can't camp not knowing what to expect from him. I didn't believe the things I'd heard. I discovered them to be true. He is a fine physical specimen with the natural instincts of a Willie Mays."

"As of now Alvis is my third baseman. If he or Martinez has a serious fault it would be that of trying too hard, putting too much pressure on himself. These boys will give us greater speed this year."

Tebbetts would not list his starting rookie pitchers. But by admitting that he considers Sam McDowell a rookie, he virtually names the southpaw as one of the two he has in mind.

It is believed Floyd Weaver, the rookie right-hander from Texas, has the inside track for the other starting job. Tebbetts said Dick Donovan, who'll be his No. 1 starter, and two other veterans will be starter with him. He said he intends to put some former starters in the bullpen. Barry Latman appears to be a strong candidate for a job as a fireman.

Tebbetts said Woodie Held had an equally good chance to start at second base or rightfield on opening day. "I'm more optimistic about this club that I expected to be," he said. "The kids are better than I thought. This is definitely better than a sixth place club."

The Indians finished sixth in the American League last year. Gary Bell blanked the Boston Red Sox on two hits over four innings in Sunday's 7-4 Indian triumph at Scottsdale.

The Houston Colts came here today for a game with the Indians.

'63 FORD Sets Record Winning ATLANTA 500 Atlanta - - Fast

By AL THOMY
ATLANTA — Fast Freddie Lorenzen of Elmhurst, Ill., alternately stroking and flatfooting his 1963 Fastback Ford Sunday repeated as Atlanta 500 winner before one of the largest sports crowds in Georgia history, an estimated 55,000.

RECORD SPEED Starting on the outside front row position, Lorenzen played cat-and-mouse with the field of 46 cars during the first 200 miles of the race and then went full bore at the finish to average 130.592 miles an hour and eclipse Bob Burdick's old mark of 124.172 (1961).

At the checkered flag he was a full lap and six seconds ahead of Pontiac driver Fireball Roberts of Daytona Beach, Fla.

Jack Smith of Spartanburg, S. C., was fourth; Daytona 500 winner Tiny Lund of Cross, S. C., fifth; G. C. Spencer, Inman, S. C., sixth, and Lee Roy Yarborough of Jacksonville, Fla., seventh.

The win was no only Lorenzen's third at the local track, but was the third straight 500-mile stock car victory for the 1963 Ford. Dan Gurney won the Riverside, Calif., road race on January 20. Tiny Lund the Daytona 500 on Feb. 24 and Lorenzen here.

It was a hard day on drivers as carbon monoxide poisoning sidelined Len Sutton of Portland, Ore., Paul Goldsmith of St. Clair Shores, Mich., Richard Petty of Randleman, N.C., Rex White, Weatherly and Reb Wickersham of Long Boat Key Fla.

A. J. Foyt, 1961 Indianapolis 500 winner, finished up for Petty, Smith for Weatherly, Spencer for White and Sutton and David Pearson for Goldsmith. Third-place winner Johns was also affected by FOYT LEADS In all, there were 13 lead changes during the afternoon, which began in a downpour at race time and finished under beautiful skies. The green flag was delayed for an hour and a half.

By the laps, it went this way: Johnson, 1-59; Roberts, 60-61; Goldsmith, 62-69; Lorenzen, 70; Foyt, 71-126; Roberts, 127-130; White, 131; Lorenzen, 132-135; Johns, 136-143; Weatherly-Smith, 144-111; Lorenzen, 212-215; Johns, 216-267; Lorenzen, 268-334.

Lorenzen led 76 laps. Weatherly 68, Johns 60, Johnson 59, Foyt, 59, Goldsmith 8, Roberts 6 and White 1. Pontiac was out front 142 laps, Chevrolet 116 and Ford 76.

THIRD WIN By beating the field to a $16,400 first-place payoff Sunday, Lorenzen became the only three-time winner at Atlanta International Raceway. In addition to last year's 500, he won the Festival 250 in 1961.

Herb Nab, Lorenzen's mechanic, ordered 10 tire changes during five pit stops, the last coming with 80 miles remaining in the race. Fortunately for the Holman and Moody team, Lorenzen was able to make two pit stops on one of the two caution flags during the afternoon. Once he changed two right tires and refueled and on the other he dashed in for a 24-second stop to get a left rear tire.

Ferraris Take Top 6 Places In Grand Prix

SEBRING, Fla. (AP)—The Ferraris, like Romans thousands of years ago, came, saw, and conquered everything thrown at them in the Sebring 12-hour Endurance automobile race.

A big, blood-red screaming 12-cylinder speedster, driven 209 laps by John Surtees, a 28-year-old English motorcycle racing champion, and Lotovito Scarfotti of Italy, led the Ferrari parade over the finish line Saturday.

Six of the 11 Ferrari entries finished in the first six positions. They won the prototype category, the grand touring class and took the first four places in the index of performance classification.

Of the 65 cars entered, 39 finished. Only two Ferraris failed to make the full 12 hours around the 5.2 mile airport course. One was retired with a split gas tank and the other with a broken suspension.

Surtees and Lotovito were driving a competitively untuned car—a 3 liter rear engine experimental model which averaged 90.3 miles per hour.

Oklahoma Wins NCAA Wrestling Title At Kent

By LARRY FRIEDMAN
KENT, Ohio (AP)—Wayne Martin, a three-time titlist, led the University of Oklahoma to its first national wrestling championship in 1936 and was voted the nation's outstanding collegiate wrestler.

Now his 21-year-old son, Mickey Martin, a lithe 130-pounder, has done the same thing.

Mickey defending his national crown and brought the Sooners their sixth team title, a 48-45 victory over Iowa State Saturday night.

Mickey's 12-8 decision over Bob Douglas of West Liberty (W. Va.) state was a clutch victory.

The Sooners were tied 45-45 with Iowa State going into the finals and needed a victory by either Martin or Wayne Baughman, the defending 191-pound champion, for the three extra points to claim a clear-cut title.

Baughman was dethroned by Jack Barden of Michigan, making Martin's victory the decisive one. Ohio University led Ohio schools in the meet with 13 points for a 16th-place tie. Toledo tied for 24th with 9 points and Ohio State showed 27th with 8. Miami, Bowling Green and Cincinnati scored 1 point each.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

A word from THERON at the Country Store

There may be a time and place for bankruptcy but there are times when it is used only to afford some a more luxurious living at the expense of those who try to do right by their fellow man.

A fellow asked if he could get some gas to get to his out of town job. He ran a bill up to about $60. Instead of paying I got a notice of bankruptcy. Very soon after I see him with a new car and a prosperous look.

Now he comes into my place and gives us a rough time. If I were him I would feel obligated to pay those who trusted me even though I am legally free of my debts.

Hundreds of Homes Inundated, Many Persons Killed

Flood Ripped Ohio 50 Years Ago

By HAROLD B. HARRISON
CINCINNATI (AP)—It was just 50 years ago next week that disaster struck Ohio. It was the week the 1913 flood ripped through the state.

It was the week that such rivers as the Great Miami, Little Miami, Scioto, Muskingum, Licking and others reached all time high levels and boiled over their banks or through broken levees in the wake of torrential downpours.

It was the week in which one newspaper described Dayton as being "nothing but a seething river three miles wide." And fire in the downtown district added to the destruction.

It was the week in which every bridge across the Scioto in Columbus except one was swept away, virtually cutting the city in half.

It was the week in which hundreds of homes in Zanesville were inundated by a break in the Licking River levee.

It was a week in which Hamilton and Middletown were isolated and threatened with almost completed inundation.

And it was a week in which hundreds died in flood later.

To this day, no one knows for sure how many lives actually were lost. A U.S. Geological Service survey, made months after the flood, accounted for 367 dead in Ohio alone but most persons who had a hand in fighting the flood figure that was much too low.

The Geological Service survey also estimated the damage in Ohio alone at almost $150 million. And it must be recalled that was 1913—before the inflated dollar—so it would be impossible to figure what the same amount of property loss and damage would amount to in dollars today.

The Geological Service figured 94 towns in Ohio were affected by the flood with more than 33,000 buildings flooded.

Hardly had the flood waters subsided than citizens, particularly in the stricken Miami Valley moved to prevent such a disaster from ever happening again.

A proposal was made at Dayton that not less than $2 million be raised for flood control work. Within two weeks $2,160,000 had been pledged by private citizens and industry.

And so was born the Miami Conservancy District and its flood protection system. The legislature passed a law permitting the creation of conservancy districts and counties were authorized to create three-man boards to build and maintain flood control works.

By 1918 work was started on five huge dams in the Miami district. They were completed five years later at a total cost of $33 million. They were financed by a bond issue which was paid off through assessments against benefiting property.

Not a cent of federal or state aid was sought or received and the last of the bonds were paid off in 1949.

The dams to hold back flood waters are designed to provide protection for a flood 40 per cent greater than in 1913.

There has been some flooding since then, of course, but never a recurrence of 1913 in the Miami Valley. Conservancy districts in other parts of the state also have helped prevent another 1913. Not even the 1937 flood on the Ohio River, the worst in history there, brought a recurrence of 1913 to the Miami Valley.

Next week cities of the valley will conduct extensive observances of the 50th anniversary of the flood and the resulting flood control work.

Meetings and dinners are scheduled for Piqua, Troy, Dayton, Middletown and Hamilton.

Although Ohio and the Miami Valley in particular bore the brunt of the 1913 flood they were not alone. Indiana, Kentucky, Illinois, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Tennessee were hit with Indiana ranking next to Ohio in loss of life and property.

In a five-day period, dating from March 24—the day after Easter—nearly 10 inches of rain fell within a comparatively small area of 3,672 square miles of the Great Miami Watershed above Hamilton. More than 11 inches fell around Bellefontaine, nearly that much at Marion, and about seven inches at Columbus.

The Great Miami was the first stream to reach alarming proportions. At Dayton, the river crested at 29 feet within 48 hours—nearly eight feet higher than the previous record set in 1866.

The crest at Hamilton was 34.6 feet or almost 13 feet higher than the previous record.

The very speed with which the Great Miami and other streams surged out their banks was a major factor in bringing about the flood's toll of death and property damage.

That was before the day of such extensive weather warnings as we now have.

On March 25, the Dayton Daily News reported "this is a city of anguish, terror and death." Thousands were trapped when a levee broke, sending flood waters roaring into the business and residential districts.

Then came the fire which swept through a portion of Dayton's downtown district.

And so it was throughout much of the state.

A reservoir above Hamilton broke, leaving thousands homeless. Houses were reported tumbling under the flood waters at Milford. Zanesville was hit by the Licking. Eleven were reported drowned at Fremont. Middletown's business district was under water. Cincinnati had no train connections in any direction except south.

Xenia, Wooster and Lebanon were hit. At Delaware it was reported the Olentangy rose 21 feet in one day.

At Dayton, John R. Patterson, president of the National Cash Register Co., became one of the flood heroes as he organized a relief committee and began herding thousands of refugees to the plant and other high areas.

More panic came at Columbus with a false report the Griggs Dam had burst. Thousands fled to higher levels. By March 28, Columbus was described in one newspaper account as "a vast rescue camp" with "interest lost in the number of dead as caring for the living became the major concern."

By the morning of March 28, crests from all streams entering the Ohio River above Pt. Pleasant, W. Va., had reached the parent stream. Crests from the Wabash in Indiana and the Cumberland and Tennessee Rivers spilled into the Ohio March 29 and 30.

The Wabash and its feeders broke all previous records, ranging from 1.7 feet to 8.1 feet above stages variously recorded in 1875, 1883, 1897 and 1904.

Throughout Ohio and other sections of the Ohio Valley—in Newport, Ky.; Hamilton, Dayton, Middletown, Portsmouth and Marietta, Ohio; Wheeling, Pt. Pleasant, Parkersburg and Huntington, W. Va.—industrial plants lay cold and idle.

Utilities failed; fuel and food became short and sanitation became a major problem. At Dayton, the citizens' relief committee ordered cesspools dug in back yards and Adj. Gen. George H. Wood ordered residents to bury all refuse.

Dead animals added to the health problem.

A dead horse was found jammed behind a wall-type radiator in Dayton's postoffice and it was estimated 1,420 horses perished. Temporary morgues on a "zone basis" were established throughout the city.

Columbus had no street lights and street cars did not run.

The Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Railroad bridge collapsed at Hamilton as hundreds watched. The Jewel Theater at Second and Court Street's advertised "admission, 5 cents." The only trouble was there was six feet of water around it which all but obscured posters advertising its current feature—a "vita-graph two-part special" entitled "Red and White Roses."

At Piqua, residents left their homes hoping for a better view of the flood but by the time they tried to get back the high waters had blocked the way. Two score or more were listed as having perished.

But by the end of the week the water was subsiding and relief operations were well under way—followed by the drive which resulted in the creation of the conservancy districts to prevent such a flood from ever happening again.

Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, later to head the Tennessee Valley Authority, was a key figure in establishing the Miami Conservancy District. He became its chief engineer and in 1917 he wrote:

"The Miami Conservancy District is notable because of its engineering features but it is nonetheless notable as an example of social cooperation."
